UQ EARLY CAREER TEACHING AND LEARNING GRANTS WRITING WORKSHOP

The University of Queensland Early Career, Teaching and Learning Grant Scheme is a means by which the University provides resources to new Teaching Focused (TF) and Teaching Research (T&R) staff to assist in building a profile in Teaching and Learning. The scheme is funded by the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic).

This is a competitive grant scheme and proposals will be assessed by the University on a competitive basis. EXCELLENCE is the primary criterion for the award of a grant, both in terms of the project and the investigator/investigator team.

The Early Career Grants is the first step toward the national grants scheme and it is a means by which The University of Queensland Early Career, Teaching and Learning Grant Scheme recipients can build their teaching portfolio during and beyond their proposed project to become competitive for a national grant.

If you are thinking about putting forward a proposal, simply want more information on writing grant proposals we encourage you to attend this session.

The workshop will address the following questions:

1. Am I eligible to apply? When and how do I apply?
2. What is the process of assessment for Early Career Grants?
3. What does a competitive proposal look like? Am I ready to apply?
4. How do I turn my teaching activity into a T&L project?

Examples of successful proposals will be discussed. Attendees’ questions will be invited.

Dr Emma Bartle & Michele Wirt of ITaLI will facilitate the workshop.

Date Thursday, 12 March 2015
Time 1:00pm – 2:00pm
Room 202A
Location LIB Building #17
RSVP m.wirt@uq.edu.au

More information on the UQ Teaching & Learning Awards is available at http://itali.uq.edu.au/content/early-career-scholarship-of-teaching-and-learning-grants