Friday, 11 March 2016 from 10:00am to 1:00pm
Room 202/202a, Level 2, Learning Innovation Building 17, St Lucia Campus

10:00 – 10:15 Welcome
Led by Professor Doune Macdonald, Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Teaching & Learning)

10:15-10:30 Session 1: Introductions
Led by Yvonne Oberhollenzer, Project Manager, ITaLI
During this session, you will have the opportunity to get to know other teaching and learning project teams and learn about their work.

10:30-11:00 Session 2: Whole-of-program curriculum design
Led by Deanne Gannaway, Lecturer – Higher Education, ITaLI
This session will explore key principles of whole-of-program curriculum design and help you start thinking about how these principles could be applied in your projects.

11:00 – 12:00 Session 3.1: Thinking about your own projects
Led by Deanne Gannaway, Lecturer – Higher Education, ITaLI (Room 202)
In your individual project groups, you will have the opportunity to discuss the curriculum design principles and work through one of a range of activities to apply these principles to your project.

Session 3.2: A conversation about the Flagship Masters projects
Led by Yvonne Oberhollenzer, Project Manager, ITaLI (Room 202a)
If you are part of the Flagship Master project teams – Masters of Data Science, Environmental Health and Leadership in Global Development – you will be able to participate in a group discussion with the following staff:
- Professor Polly Parker, School of Business, BEL – lessons from the refashioned MBA program related to curriculum alignment, course selection and stakeholder engagement
- John Zornig, Director, UQx – implications of including Massive Open Online Courses (MOOCs) and other blended learning approaches into the Flagship Masters, including identification of content commonalities between programs and the potential for using existing MOOCs within the new programs.
- Dr Clare Hourigan, Director, Planning – discussion of next steps in the approval process and collection of questions for the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic) and Provost regarding the process.

12:00 – 1:00 Lunch
Join us for lunch after the working session so that you can continue the discussions you started with other project teams and find new connections that may help you with your project planning and implementation.
