

The University of Queensland Higher Education Academy Fellowship

DR ALLYSON MUTCH

“ The HEA Fellowship process provided a valuable opportunity to reflect on past, present and future practice. It has allowed me to embrace my reflexive approach to teaching and acknowledge the value of thoughtful consideration. ”

Senior Lecturer
School of Public Health
Faculty of Health & Behavioural Sciences

Expertise

Social determinants of health
Health policy
Collaborative teaching processes
Students as partners

My favourite teaching tools

- Butcher's paper
- Facebook
- Collaborative teaching spaces

Programs

- Social determinants of health as a threshold concept
- Students as partners in the co-construction of curriculum

Memorable teaching moment

In 2014 I moved my first year class of 130 students from a standard lecture/tutorial format to a 3 hour lectural where the students became the centre of learning. Throughout that semester we discussed and debated core content and the students drew their learning from each other as well as the teaching team. It was a wonderful expression of collaborative teaching that allowed me to play the role of facilitator not teacher.

