

5 tips to help you stay motivated with online study

Online, remote or distance learning is different to learning on campus and we understand that it can be hard to be self-directed in your study in this difficult, unprecedented time.

Professor Blake McKimmie and Associate Professor Jason Lodge have put together some tips which can help you to keep motivated while learning remotely.

TIP #1 BE KIND TO YOURSELF

- It is perfectly normal and OK to feel anxious, uncertain and unmotivated in this difficult time.
- Avoid the negative self-talk, give yourself permission to do something non uni-related like taking a walk outside.
- UQ has a range of online events, workshops and services aimed at making and maintaining connections and improving academic, life and wellbeing skills.

TIP #2 PLAN FOR SUCCESS

- Planning is important, particularly when learning online.
- Make a to-do list with achievable tasks and set your own deadlines.
- Break large tasks down to smaller tasks which you are able to complete in under an hour.
- Reward yourself when you finish a task.

TIP #3 MANAGE DISTRACTIONS

- Distractions have been consistently shown to have a detrimental effect on learning.
- Turn your phone on silent or place it in another room.
- Temporarily turn off your access to social media with the help of an app – like Focus Lock (iOS and Android).
- Be aware of what distracts you and set boundaries.
- Listen to instrumental music to help you get in the zone, such as Spotify's Focus collection.

TIP #4 AVOID STUDY AVOIDANCE

- Sometimes getting started can be difficult. Promising yourself that you will work for 10 minutes can be a good way to get over the initial barrier.
- Set a timer for perhaps 25 minutes and for that time stay on task.
- Have an 'accountability buddy' – someone to whom you commit to working on specific tasks and then check in with them afterwards.

TIP #5 MONITOR PROGRESS

- Monitor your progress and develop good strategies for learning over the longer term.
- Be open to trying new study strategies if you feel stuck, such as reaching out to peers or ask for help from your teachers.
